

MAY 24 1920

©CLM 1603 ✓

New Screen Magazine

No. 68. Free Read

Vincennes, quaintest of French towns, situated on the Seine, is renowned for its market place. Here may be seen merchandise of all kinds and vendors of all kinds, but the market place serves other purposes as well, for during the war it was the common meeting place of the townsfolk to talk over the newest happenings.

That the ancients were as adept at artisanship as the moderns is proven by the fact that they too practiced the delicate art of making thin gold membranes used in gilding domes, gold lettering etc., and they practiced it well. It is a most exacting process and requires a thorough concentration.

The bat, one of the most dreaded of animals, has an interesting existence. The bat hibernates in damp dark caves, and is not keen on warm weather. The most interesting part of this animal is its wings, which are truly marvelous.

New Screen Magazine No. 68 closes with assortment of "laughographs" and an animated called "Monkey Shines."

This document is from the Library of Congress
“Motion Picture Copyright Descriptions Collection,
1912-1977”

Collections Summary:

The Motion Picture Copyright Descriptions Collection, Class L and Class M, consists of forms, abstracts, plot summaries, dialogue and continuity scripts, press kits, publicity and other material, submitted for the purpose of enabling descriptive cataloging for motion picture photoplays registered with the United States Copyright Office under Class L and Class M from 1912-1977.

Class L Finding Aid:

<https://hdl.loc.gov/loc.mbrsmi/eadmbrsmi.mi020004>

Class M Finding Aid:

<https://hdl.loc.gov/loc.mbrsmi/eadmbrsmi.mi021002>

National Audio-Visual Conservation Center
The Library of Congress